I am a multimedia journalist currently working as a Producer for Reuters TV in Asia, with over five years of experience at broadcasters like PBS and NPR. I've lived in Hong Kong for nearly three years and in Asia for most of my adult life, a region I've always felt drawn to cover. Before Hong Kong, I worked in Seoul, South Korea as a Princeton in Asia journalism fellow.

Dear Fellow Members,

I respectfully ask that you cast your vote for me as Correspondent Governor of the FCC for the coming year.

I understand the importance the FCC plays in Hong Kong life, and the reputation and respect it holds throughout Asia.

If elected, I want to bring my communications and tech expertise to improve the club's social media and web presence.

Here are priorities as I see them this year:

1. Simplify and streamline the FCC web presence.
2. Develop for new and engaging ways that the FCC can reach out to its members and the community through social media and the Internet
3. More effectively highlight online the current events, lunches and speakers at the club as well as content from the Correspondent to drive traffic to the FCC's site and social media accounts
4. Increase the use of the FCC's online presence as a platform to highlight journalism throughout the region.

Thank you,

Ryan Christopher BROOKS
